Joost in Time—After waiting in the first inning of today's game at Fenway Pak, Eddie Joost, the Athletics' shortstop, was almost nabbed on a pickoff play, Fritz Dorish to Jake Jones. Here's Eddie getting back safely. A moment later he was forced at second when Barney McCosky hit into a double play, Pesky to Doerr to Jones.

May, 2 Garssons Guilty of Fraud

By CHARLES B. SEIB

WASHINGTON, July 3 (INS)—A federal court jury of five women and seven men today convicted ex-Rep. Andrew J. May (D.) of Kentucky, and the munitions-making Garsson brothers of war fraud conspiracy after delebrating only an hour and 50 minutes. Dr. Henry Garsson and Murray W. Garrson and May face mandatory priso nterms ranging up to six years each and possible $30,000 fines.

The convictions on all three counts of the indictment grew out of operations of the $78,000,000 munitions empire the Garssons built from the flimsiest beginnings.

May is the first World War II high-ranking public official to be found gupilty of profiting at the expense of the nation's war effort.

He was charged with using his office as chairman of the powerful House military affairs committee to win favors and contracts for the Garssons from the War Department and Army officers.

He also was accused of accepting $53,000 for his "services" to the munitions combine.

The 72-year-old Kentunckian, biting his lips but otherwise showing little emotion at the jurydict, cried:

"I'm not daunted for a minute."

He added grimly:

"The verdict will be appealed."

Linking arms with his daughter, Mrs. Olga Latta, May strode from the courtroom refusing further comment.

Chief Defense Counsel Charles J. Margiotti announced he would file a motion for a new trial within five days. But he said he doubted whether the issue could be argued before September.

Federal Judge Henry A. Schweinhaut said he would defer sentence and permit the defendants to remain free on bail pending the appeal.

He said it would be unfair to commit the defendants to jain immediately.

Murray Garsson wept as the verdict was announced but his brother, brains of the gigantic munitions network, smiled and said:

"This is just temporary. I know justice will win out."

As soon as the foreman announced the guilty verdict, Margiotti asked for a poll of the jury.

The five men and seven womer each replied in firm low voices:

"Guilty."

22 Nations Get Bid to Join Marshall Plan European Bloc

By LEON PEARSON

PARIS, July 3 (INS)—Great Britain and France responded to Russia's walkout from the Paris self-help conference today by inviting 22 European nations to participate in a great international conference on recovery. Spain was excluded "temporarily" from the invitation, and merely a notice of the invitation was sent to Alexander Bogomolov, Soviet ambassador to France.

The notice was accompanied by a letter from French Foreign Minister Bidault expressing the hope that Russia's refusal to participate in the recovery of Europe on Anglo-French lines was not final.

The four commanders of occupation zones in Germany will be asked to provide an inventory of the needs and resources of the four zones.

Officials said that if Generalissimo Franco's regime is oversent to Spain. In the meantime invitations went to Portugal, Belgium, Switzerland, Sweden, Yugoslavia, Czecho-Slovakia, Romania, Turkey, Eire, Holland, Italy, Norway, Albania, Poland, Bulgaria, Iceland, Luxembourg, Denmark, Finland, Greece, Hungary nd Austria.

Less than 24 hours after Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov bolted the Paris meeting, British Secretary Bevin and French Foreign Minister Bidault issued a joint communique announcing the invitation.

By its wording, the door was held open for participation by any of the nations in Russia's sphere of influence if they care to do so.

The communique proposed formation of a temporary organization to frame a program of European reconstruction in which the resources and needs of each country would be coordinated in such a manner "as each freely decides."

Object of the conference will be to make an inventory of Europe's needs and resources in response to the Marshall proposals. The communique said:

"The task to be achieved will be to build up a program of European reconstruction in which the resources and needs of every country will be coordinated in a manner that each European country may decide freely.

"This offer of participation in the organization will be open to all European states."

A proviso was made in the case of Spain, however, although the statement emphasized that this exception is "provisional."

Cadogan Warns UN on Balkans

LAKE SUCCESS, July 3 (AP)—Britain told the United Nations today that they might as well "tear up the charter—and pack up" if they could not settle the Balkans trouble as recommended by the United States.

Sir Alexander Cadogan, British delegate, lined up solidly with the United States proposal for a commission to watch the Balkans indefinitely.

"It seems to me that here we have a danger point," Cadogan continued. "It is just such a case as the United Nations was designed to meet. We have practical proposals, which can perhaps be perfected and elaborated. We must try them."

1st Hurricane Near Hatteras, Not Due Here

MIAMI, Fla., July 3 (AP)—The federal storm warning service, in its first advisory of the 1947 hurricane season, advised small craft to remain in port along the Carolina Capes and told ships at sea to expect heavy gales off the middle and north Atlantic coast during the next two days. (In Boston the weather bureau said that the disturbance would be far out to sea and would not be felt here.)

Grady Norton, chief storm forecaster, said a frontal disturbance centered over the Atlantic 150 miles south-southeast of Cape Hatteras had developed a circular motion and is increasing in intensity as it moves northeastward.

The center at 10:30 a. m., EST, was near latitude 33 degrees 5 minutes north, Longitude 75 west, and strongest winds at that hour were 40 to 45 miles an hour.

"Vessels are cautioned against heavy gales off the middle and North Atlantic coast during the next two days and small craft along the North Carolina capes should remain in port today and tonight," said the advisory.

Pope Sees Civil War Peril in Parley Failure

ROME, July 3 (INS)—A high Vatican prelate disclosed today that Pope Pius XII was "gravely concerned" over failure of the Paris conference.

His Holiness fears the breakdown accentuates the danger of civil war in numerous European nations unless Sec. Marshall's plan is applied to alleviate persistent near-starvation.

The semi-official Vatican newspaper Osservatore Romano criticized the Soviets for their refusal to accept proposed Anglo-French implementaton of the Marshall proposal. Osservatore said:

"Onc again Russia's attitude has not rendered possible an entente which over and above its economic and political value would have produced a moral benefit; a benefit changing a predominant world state of mind of pessimism and desperation which keeps it agitated and renders it fatalistic regarding a coming conflict, and moves it to years for liberation from the nightmare of war . . . at the cost of facing it as soon as possible."

Drag Charles For 2 Girls, Kidnap Feared

Although police proceeded today on the theory that two missing Watertown girls were drowning victims, the father of one said he believed the youngsters had been abducted. The girls, Florence Cannalnga, 14, a deaf mute, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vito Cannalnga of Orchard st., and Joan Noren, 11, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Noren of Worcester st., vanished mysteriously from crowded Forest Grove beach on the Charles river at the Newton-Watertown line.

Florence Cannalnga

Metropolitan police started dragging at the beach this forenoon, but Florence's father said he was almost certain his daughter and her chum had not drowned.

"There were three guards here at the beach and plenty of people, lots of people," Cannalnga said. "Nobody saw the girls in the water. Nobody saw them go down. I do not believe my daughter is in the river.

"I believe the girls were picked up by somebody and taken away from here. I didn't even know my daughter planned to come to this beach."

Police, too, were inclined to the belief the girls would not be found in the river when they had dragged the shallow waters there seven times without result.

"If the bodies were there, we would have found them by now," one police official said this noon. He added, however that the dragging would continue.

The Watertown girls went to the beach with Joan's cousin, Robert Carroll, 18, of North Beacon st., Watertown, together with Richard Noren, Joan's brother; Mary Thrift, 12, a neighbor, and several other playmates.

After an hour of swimming, Carroll called to his charges to go to nearby dressing rooms because he was ready to drive them home. It was then discovered that the two girls had vanished.

There had been no reports of drownings and no cries for help heard by any of the bathers. When search of the beach failed to reveal trace of the missing pair their absence was reported to authorities and Metropolitan police immediately began dragging operations. They worked throughout the night under floodlights while the families of the girls kept a vigil on shore.

Dragging continued this morning under supervision of William Cronin, John Delorey and John Dacey, Metropolitan police officers.

Joan Noren's father had no comment on the fears of Florence's parent that the girls may have been picked up from the beach and taken away by someone.

Chums of the missing pair said Florence, home on vacation from a Randolph school, could not swim. Joan, however, was a good swimmer, they said.

Another disappearance—that of Walter Andrews, 14, Bragdon st., Roxbury—ended tragically this noon when Metropolitan police found his body in Houghton's pond, Milton. The victim vanished there yesterday while swimming with two pals, William McCrea, 10, and Harold Powers, 11, both of Bragdon st., Roxbury.

The boy's body was recovered with grappling irons by Patrolmen Michael Coyne and Clarence D. Dixon.

FIREMAN DROPS DEAD

William G. McKernan, 56, Vernon st., Roxbury, a fireman for 29 years, was found unconscious today in Washington st., Roxbury. He was taken to City Hospital, where he was pronounced dead by Dr. John Milnor. Death is believed due to natural causes.

Lost Boy, Girl Just on El Travelogue

Helen Fennessey, 11, and her brother, Albert, 9, arrived safely at their home in Wilrose st., Dorchester, today, after a day and night of wandering which ended at the home of a relative in East Walpole.

Their relieved parents, Nicholas and Helen Fennessey, administered the traditional punishment, then took away their shoes for the day to make sure they did no further wandering.

Their travelogue started yesterday when they were being taken home by their mother after a visit to the Boston Common frog pond.

The two children failed to get out of the rapid transit train in the crowd when it reached Andrew sq. Their mother, assuming they would get off at the Columbia station and return to Andrew sq. on an inbound train, waited some time at the station for them.

When they did not appear, she decided they had gone to Fields Corner, where the family has relatives, and went home without them. She did not become alarmed until darkness fell.

Meanwhile, the children decided to do a bit of traveling. They rode back and forth on the rapid transit line and finally got off at Park st. and boarded a Jamaica-Arborway car.

When they reached Forest Hills they decided to go on to East Walpole and visit an uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. John Reardon, at their home in Pleasant st.

The Reardons were at a theater when the children arrived but the pair walked into the house, made themselves at home and finally fell asleep on a studio couch.

Collision-Damaged Transport Towed Here

The Army transport St. Albans Victory, a 9-by-12 foot hole below her water line and 20 feet of her starboard main deck smashed in a collision with the Danish freight-Bolivia off Nantucket Lightship, was towed into the Navy yard drydock today by a small fleet of tugs.

Still aboard the ship was her full crew and 28 war dogs being returned from Europe.

Mother Truman Walks a Bit

WASHINGTON, July 3 (AP)—President Truman's 94-year-old mother, Mrs. Martha E. Truman, has improved to such an extent that she got up today and with some assistance walked eight steps to a rocking chair in her home at Grandview, Mo.

White House Secretary Charles G. Ross said this information was telephoned this morning to President Truman and Brig. Gen. Wallace Graham, the President's physician, who has assisted in treating Mrs. Truman since she fractured a hip last February.

Pastor Chains Girl to Bedpost

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., July 3 (AP)—Geraldine Massengill was found chained to a bedpost at her home today on her 16th birthday and a policeman said the girl told him her father, a part-time preacher, chained her "to keep me from going out."

The girl's father and stepmother, Mr. and Mrs. William Massengill, were jailed for questioning.

The girl said she had never seen a motion picture, never been swimming and seldom was allowed out of the house.

She told police her father whips her at least every week with a belt, and displayed marks across her back and hips.

Geraldine's plight got attention through a note she tossed out a window. A neighbor girl found the note and notified police.

"We're going to see she has a nice birthday," police said. "We've collected money to buy her some new clothes, a permanent wave and a bathing suit."

Tenants Wary as Landlords Rush To Boost Rents

Thousands of Greater Boston apartment dwellers today received offers of leases to 1949 from owners eager to obtain a 15 per cent rent boost under the new Federal rent control law.

Virtually all the large apartment owner groups have made such offers or have them in the mails.

William E. Riley, eastern Massachusetts rent director, said landlords had made 5000 applications for the necessary forms, but pointed out that tenants must agree to the boosts.

Hundreds of tenants called at the area rent control office, 55 Tremont st., seeking information on what would happen if they declined to sign such leases. They were told that landlords could not force such leases and could not evict tenants who refuse to agree.

Thomas R. Flynn, executive director of the Boston Apartment House Owners' Ass'n, estimated that only 10 per cent of the landlords would pass up the chance to get leases now and continue present rates in the hope of being able to raise rents without restrictions if no further rent control is enacted when the present law expires next February.

Expressing his personal conviction that rent controls will be continued at that time, Flynn warned that hold-off landlords "may be in for a rude awakening."

Indication that many tenants are willing to pay a 15 per cent rent boost in exchange for a lease protecting them up to 1949 was reported by many property owners.

The smiling owner of a 40-unit apartment house appeared at the area rent office yesterday afternoon with 40 signed leases, but his smile faded when officials ruled the leases invalid because they bore the date July 1, whereas the law specifies such leases are valid only if signed after July 1.

Southern Owners Study Mine Pact

By PHILLIPS J. PECK

WASHINGTON, July 3 (INS)—A wage agreement fashioned by John L. Lewis and "Big Steel" was laid before the nation's soft coal interests today as the pattern for peace in the mine fields.

The new pact was hammered out in a week-long series of secret meetings to avert a full-fledged summer coal strike Tuesday when Lewis' 400,000 United Mine Workers end a 10-day vacation.

Acceptance of the agreement by northern and western bituminous producers, representing 75 per cent of the country's soft coal tonnage, seems assured. Southern mine owners will meet in Washington tomorrow to decide their course.

Details of the pattern settlement were not announced, but it reportedly gives the miners the equivalent of a 35-cents-an-hour pay boost.

Offers made to Lewis last Thursday by Benjamin Fairless, president of U. S. Steel, and George Humphrey, chairman of Pittsburgh Consolidation Coal Co., world's largest commercial producer, formed the basis for the agreement.

Hub Readies Honors To John Paul Jones

With a holiday preview tomorrow and Saturday, observance of John Paul Jones Day in honor of the American naval hero of 200 years ago will be celebrated Sunday with an extensive program centering at the Navy Yard in Charlestown.

Latest plans of the Navy Dept. include open house at both the Charlestown yard and the Navy Yard at South Boston, a thrilling air show by 100 or more Navy planes of the fighter type, public inspection of ships in port and a number of band concerts.

Focal point of Sunday's program will be at the Charlestown yard aboard the frigate USS Constitution where formal exercises will be held to honor the Scottish-born sailor who adopted America as his country and became one of the principal heroes to start the U. S. Navy on its historic career.

Originally planned for a one-day observance of the great patriot's birth, the program has grown within the past week to include four days, starting with the holiday tomorrow and running through Monday noon.

Following the Sunday activities in the afternoon, radio chains have made arrangements for evening programs that will be heard in Boston over Stations WCOP and WBZ, with other stations trying to arrange time for similar observances.

Throughout the week-end, also, the Boston Museum of Fine Arts and other similar places of exhibit are to have displays of historic articlees of interest in connection with the days when John Paul Jones was starting the Navy on its way to fame.

At the Navy Yard open house, experienced guides will be assigned to show visitors through the various ships and explain the workings of the new equipment designed for modern warfare.

NAVY HAS 13 NOW

WASHINGTON, July 3 (AP)—The Navy counted up its John Paul Joneses today and announced it has 13 times as many as in the days when the original was the naval hero of the Revolutionary War.

Of the 13 John Paul Joneses now on active duty, only one is an officer—Lt. Com. John Paul Jones, of the Atlantic Reserve Fleet Staff, New London, Ct.

El Sale Tax Hearing Tuesday

Superior Judge Francis J. Good today set Tuesday for a hearing on a petition by the Boston Elevated Street Railway for a temparary injunction to prevent the newly appointed Metropolitan Transit Authoritq from taking over the El pending a decision as to who pays the federal government a capital gains tax of $5,250,000.

Atty. James C. Reilly, representing the El, said the company does not wish to hinder transfer of the line to the State, but considers the 1947 purchase act in conflict with the statute of 1931 permitting such a purchase. He maintained stockholders will not realize the agreed $85 per share if forced to pay the capital gains tax of about $22 per share.

Asst. Atty.-Gen. Rowell urged haste in arriving at a decision because the State's option to take over the El lapses permanently Aug. 30.

Ex-Seaman, Freed in Shooting Of Widow, Held on Gun Charge

A strapping ex-seaman from Auburn, N. H., who was questioned and freed in May in the mystery shooting of a Mattapan widow in Franklin Park, was held in $25,000 bail for the grand jury by Judge Adlow today on charges of carrying a gun and possessing burglar's tools.

Frank Dayeska, 33, husky, well-dressed six-footer, was arrested in his room in Gloucester st., Back Bay, in a raid led by Sgt. Arthur Tiernan. Tiernan told the court the raid followed a tip from Haverhill police Dayeska was wanted there for an auto theft.

Police said a German automatic was found in a closet along with keys to a stolen car. In the car trunk they discovered "the best set of burglar tools I've seen in 25 years," according to Sgt. Tiernan.

The set included drills and a variety of safe breaking implements and a novel stolen auto registration in which two plates had been skillfully welded together, police testified.

Judge Adlow was told Dayeska had a long and active record which included conviction in 1937 for assault with intent to murder two Boston policemen; questioning last May in the shooting of Mrs. Clara Ferrell, 23, a Mattapan widow; a non-support conviction on complaint of his wife, Anna, which she brought when he went to the hospital to visit the wounded widow; and default of $1500 bail last month in Fall River superior court.

Dayeska pleaded not guilty to the new charges and asked for a continuance. Judge Adlow ruled the oly question was one of probable cause and said the defendant's record warranted high bail.

In May, Dayeska had told police he was parked in his car with Mrs. Ferrell when someone shot her three times in the arm. Police sought a warrant then against Dayeska, but the court held the evidence was insufficient.

Pair Charged With Murder of Court Reporter

PORTLAND, Me., July 3—After hours of questioning, two Portland men today were charged with the murder of Orein D. Hooper, 57, federal crt reporter, whose body was found in nearby Westbrook. Discovery of the body, buried in a shallow sandpit grave, ended a hunt which began June 14.

The suspects are Donald O. Bell, 39, advertising salesman, and Russell Elliott, 28, who with the victim set out for the horse trotting races at Lewiston nearly a month ago.

Donald Bell

Atty.-Gen. Ralph W. Farris, who ordered the men locked up at Cumberland County jail over the holiday, announced:

"We are holding Bell and Elliott for murder. One of them has told us the whole story."

Later, Sheriff Philip M. Dearborn quoted Bell as saying Elliott had struck Hooper on the head with a tire wrench in Falmouth while they were en route home from the races.

Elliott, who immediately obtained counsel, would make no statement.

Bell, according to Sheriff Dearborn, declared the killing was the outcome of a drunken brawl which began after Hooper twice had made "some nasty remarks." The pair had driven to the races with two other persons, according to Bell's story.

There, Bell told the sheriff, he and Elliott met Hooper for the first time.

Dearborn said Bell told him:

"I was the driver of the car. The fight began after Hooper made some nasty remarks. Elliott struck him with his fist. Seeing that he was injured we put him in the trunk and started to take him to the Marine Hospital.

"On the way he began to holler and swear so we drove to the Falmouth schoolhouse opposite the Country Club. Then we took him out to patch him up. Hooper had a tire iron in his hand and Elliott took it away from him and hit him once."

Farris and County Atty. Richard S. Chapman said the other two persons had left the car before the fight started.

Bell is married and has a stepdaughter;

Flier Killed Trying to Hit Home of Wife

MIAMI, Fla., July 3 (AP)—Deputy Sheriff Claude High said today he believes Torris V. Seigle, 27-year-old flight instructor, who crashed to death here last night, had done so deliberately in an effort to strike the home of his estranged wife.

The plane fell two blocks from the home, in the rear of an apartment house.

Patrolman Wallace G. Jefferson, who was in an auto with Mrs. Seigle and several other persons when the crash occurred, said Seigle had called his wife yesterday morning asking about a reconciliation.

The patrolman quoted Mrs. Seigle as telling her husband that she couldn't live with him anymore.

"O. K.," she told Jefferson that Seigle responded, "read the papers tomorrow."

Long Holiday Exodus Starts, Bonfires, Parades to Top 4th

Thousands of "early birds" began moving out of Greater Boston by train, bus, plane and auto before noon today in the vanguard of what is expected to be the greatest exodus of travelers to New England vacation spots for a Fourth of July celebration in resort history.

The nation's 171st anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence will be a three-day holiday for most workers and the weather bureau promised fair skies for the long week-end.

Temperatures will be on the upgrade starting tomorrow, the forecaster said, and on Saturday and Sunday the mercury will be around 90 with a considerable increase in humidity.

To escape the city for the long holiday, the gay crowd set tax to capacity equipment of railroads, buses and airlines. Transportation experts anticipate handling the biggest holiday crowds since before the war and possibly of all time.

Reservations for travel to Cape Cod, the South and North Shores and resorts in Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont have been sold out for weeks. Train men said they expect hundreds of standees in trips leaving Boston this evening.

Automobile traffic promises to eclipse all prewar and postwar figures. State Police said they expect travel on Newburyport Turnpike tonight to be "bumper to bumper" and the same packed conditions are likely on other busy thoroughfares.

The holiday program will get under way tonight with bonfires, fireworks and other "night before" events. Communities listing entertainment tonight include Brighton, where a band concert at 8 p. m. will be followed by fireworks and a bonfire; Dedham, a Horribles Parade at 8 p. m.; Quincy, fireworks and a bonfire at Merrymount Park at 11 p. m.; Revere, fireworks at the beach; Salem, bonfires at Salem Willows and Collins Grove, both at midnight; Somerville, bonfire at Mystic ave. and Shore dr. at midnight.

Also, Beverly, a bonfire at Lyons Park; Burlington, entertainment at Simonds Park; Concord, fireworks at Emerson playground at 11 p. m.; Danvers, bonfire at Indian Rock Park at midnight; Hingham, fireworks on the high school playground; Manchester, midnight bonfire at town park; Mansfield, bonfire at Fruit st. playground; and bonfire at Weymouth fair grounds.

Tomorrow will be memorable to children for the "free ice cream parties" arranged by many communities.

Boston's program tomorrow begins with a flag raising at City Hall by Temporary Mayor John B. Hynes. A parade will then follow from City Hall along Province st., to Bromfield st., Tremont st., School st., Washington st. to Faneuil Hall.

The Declaration of Independence will be read at the Old State House by Geoffrey R. Paul, a student at Boston Latin School. Judge Robert G. Wilson will be the orator at Faneuil Hall.

Fireworks displays tomorrow night will be held at Boston Common, Jamaica Pond, Ronan Park, Fallon Field, Roberts Field and Franklin Field.

DRIVERS, BEWARE!

Motor Vehicle Registrar Rudolph F. King announced today that his entire force of 200 inspectors will be on the State's highways until Monday morning to keep traffic accidents and deaths at a minimum during the holiday week-end.

"This week-end will be a record highway travel period in the Commonwealth," King said. "Therefore, we must use every possible effort to control this traffic and hold the line against accidents and deaths."

King will remain on duty and has instructed his inspectors to send all complaint cards and violation tags to him personally.

The OVAL ROOM'S New Singing Star
JIMMY CARROLL

Man about Boston

Acclaimed by the critics

By GEORGE W. CLARKE

BOSTON HAS A NEW SINGING STAR at the Oval Room in the Copley Plaza in the person of shy and agreeably modest Jimmy Carroll, darling of the radio . . . who has the voice of the wind whispering over the meadows of Kildare.

He's extremely good, is this Jimmy Carroll, with a trained voice, unstrained in the high notes and with never the thought of a falsetto—one of the best voices of its type in Boston . . . And, as you listen to it, you know why he shared for so long top honors with Rise Stevens on the Family Hour. He's due back in that spot in the fall, and in the meantime will play some hotels and club dates—not many, for he much prefers radio.

Nor does he want to be typecast as an Irish tenor. Therefore he is careful to give a wide range in his repertoire . . . but his voice is sweetest when lifted in songs from Ireland.

If there is a slump in night-life business, it isn't apparent at the moment at the Copley.

Chandler Asks Judgment Stay

Douglas Chandler, convicted last Saturday of treason for his wartime broadcasts from Germany, moved today for arrest of judgment, the first step toward final adjudication of the case by the U. S. Supreme Court.

His attorneys, Claude B. Cross, Edward C. Park and Philip Grogan, filed the motion with the clerk of the U. S. District Court. In it they contended:

The indictment did not state facts sufficent to constitute an offense against the United States.

The court lacked jurisdiction because Congress had never specified the place of trial for crimes committed within the territorial jurisdiction of a foreign country.

The court lacked jurisdiction because this was not the first district into which the defendant was brought when transferred to this country from Germany.

No date for hearing has been set.

Ford Throws Out Foreman's Union

DETROIT, July 3 (AP)—The Ford Motor Co., which signed the nation's first contract with the Foreman's Ass'n of America three years ago, today withdrew recognition of the independent union whose 3800 Ford supervisory employes have been on strike more than six weeks.

The company said its three-year experiment with the independent union had failed and urged strikers return to work immediately without fear of discrimination.

The FAA immediately replied that Ford was "reiterating in public what they told us when the strike began." President Robert H. Keyes said the union would meet Sunday to discuss the company's action.

Under the Taft-Hartley labor law, Ford would not be required to recognize the foremen's union after Aug. 22.

Atty. Thompson.

The investigation is to be in charge of Burlington Police Chief Malcolm J. MacEacheren, who will be aided by representatives of the district attorney's office.

G. Frank McDonald, Boston Institutions Commissioner, said the complaints were the first received against the woman.

Attending the conference with Chief MacEachern and MacDonald were Mrs. Anna Mackay, deputy institutions commissioner; Miss Helen Kenslea, registered nurse; Asst. Corp. Counsel Nathan Moger; State Police Lts. Daniel I. Murphy and Andrew Trodden and Asst. Dist. Atty. Allen Gerson.

Faces Sanity Test In Fire Eviction

Fred W. Czerwinski, 45, was ordered committed to the Boston Psychopathic Hospital for observation today when arraigned on a charge of setting fire to the first floor suite of an apartment house he owns and occupies in Louis Prang st., Back Bay.

Judge Samuel Eisenstadt of Roxbury district court entered a plea of not guilty for Czerwinski and continued the case to July 15.

State Police Lt. Theodore W. Johnson said Czerwinski set the fire to force Mrs. Lena S. Kligman, a widow, to move after trying unsuccessfully to have her evicted by court order.

Tupper Trial In Killing of 2 Over to July 14

Hollis C. Tupper, 36, of King st., Dorchester, was arraigned in Dorchester court today on charges he had murdered the woman he loved and the wife who refused him a divorce in a double knife-slaying. Judge William G. Lynch ordered the case continued to July 14.

Judge Lynch also ordered Tupper's aunt, Mrs. Mary Tavener, of Washington, D. C., held in $50 personal recognizance as a material witness after she promised to remain in the State until she had been questioned by a representative of the district attorney's office.

Tupper, driver for a cleansing company, was charged with the murders of his estranged wife, Mrs. Catherine F. Tupper, 34, of Talbot ave., Dorchester, and Miss Helen Kaminski, 33, of Beacon st., Brookline, a nurse with whom he had been keeping company.

Rail Holding Co. Hearing Aug. 8

The Massachusetts Supreme Judicial Court was requested today to appoint a receiver to liquidate the Boston Railroad Holding Co., owner of the largest single block of stock of the Boston & Maine Railroad. Justice John V. Spalding issued an order of notice calling for a hearing Aug. 6.

Through the holding company, the New Haven Railroad virtually controls the affairs of the Boston & Maine. The legislature created the holding company in 1909 to bring control of the Boston & Maine under Massachusetts jurisdiction.

The legislature last year after a bitter wrangle ordered the holding company dissolved and the New Haven Railroad was to produce its majority shares for liquidation on July 1, 1947. It did not do so, according to a group of preferred stockholders, who launched today's action.

Richard B. Ely, son and law associate of former Gov. Joseph B. Ely, filed the petition, which sets forth that the state's attorney-general was authorized to apply for a receiver after July 1, but that if he failed to do so, a majority of the publicly-held preferred stock could do so, making the Commonwealth a party to the action.

Woods Hole Explorers Set To Study Underseas Peaks

WOODS HOLE, Mass., July 3 (INS)—A long undersea mountain range, which scientists hope will add to the knowledge of the earth's history, is to be sought this summer a mile below the surface of the Atlantic 1200 miles east of Bermuda.

The expedition will leave Woods Hole July 15 for a two-month cruise aboard the 146 foot ketch Atlantis.

Prof. Maurice Ewing of the geology department of Columbia University will direct the survey, accompanied by Dr. Lyman J. Briggs, National Geographic Society research committee chairman.

In exploring the mid-Atlantic range which runs almost unbroken from Iceland nearly to Antarctica, with peaks forming the Azores and Ascension Islands, it was made clear the expedition does not seek the "lost continent" of Atlantis.

The scientists will collect ocean-[illegible] the age of the deposits.

Mud deposits over the "earth's rim" are believed to range in thickness from several hundred feet to seven and a half miles. Prof. Ewing will use a sonic device to determine these thicknesses. Another method will be photographs taken from a submarine camera.

at great depths along the mid-Atlantic ridge will also be collected.

Argument Nets Driver 6 Months

A South End automobile driving argument wound up in municipal court today where James D. Tierney, Walter ave., Brookline, was handed two three-month sentences on assault charges and fined $25 for driving to endanger.

Tierney appealed and was held in $1000 bail by Judge Adlow.

Roy Thomas, Upton st., South End, testified the defendant cut off his car at Union Park st. and Shawmut ave., then forced him to the curb and challenged him to fight.

"I got my nose and some teeth broken," Thomas said.

Toufik Shwrey, Rutland st., passenger in the Thomas car, testified he got out to protest. The defendant, he said, jumped into his own car and drove it at him.

Tierney declared he was the driver who was cut off, that he chased the Thomas car to protest and struck the latter in self defense when the man grabbed at his coat and tore it.

Blue Shirt Too Much for Rubinstein

Artur Rubinstein, the world renowned pianist featured in "Carnegie Hall," currently at the Esquire, shed a new light on so-called temperament when he started working before the cameras.

Rubinstein, like all the other artists in the film, was fitted out by the wardrobe department with a blue shirt. Blue is used because it actually photographs white. It is much more subdued than a white shirt and consequently eliminates the possibility of glare in the camera lens.

The great artist had no trouble until he sat down to play the piano. He just couldn't satisfy himself that he was playing his best. Finally he discovered what was wrong.

"It's this shirt," he told Director Edgar G. Ulmer. "I've never worn a full dress suit with a blue shirt. Every time I concentrate on my playing, I find myself looking at the cuffs of this blue shirt."

The shirt was changed to white and the lights and cameras were adjusted. Rubinstein had no difficulty after that.

Added Attraction—Steeplejack Theodore Franklin (top arrow, left) diverted the attention of downtown Des Moines crowds from the professional flagpole stander (lower arrow) when he defied, for two hours, attempts to get him down from his perch, 300 feet above the ground. THE FOURTH OF JULY

THE FOURTH OF JULY is a patriotic American holiday, annually observed by the people of the United States in commemoration of the occasion 171 years ago today when their fathers declared their intention to be free citizens in a sovereign nation.

It was the attainment of freedom by the people in consequence of the American Declaration of Independence, and not the establishment of national sovereignty, which was truly revolutionary.

Sovereign nations were not new in that time. In fact, the separation of states from parent powers—by revolution or conquest or other processes—has been a familiar and continuing procedure in international relationships since almost the very beginning of time.

But it was entirely new for a people to achieve freedom within a sovereign state, although the aspiration is as old as human history.

IT WOULD SEEM that such an achievement, fulfilling so old an aspiration, would have had widespread and even universal emulation—but, strangely, that has not been the case.

In all the years that have intervened, only a very few peoples have even seriously tried to attain a free way of life for themselves comparable with the American concept.

Of those few, even fewer have succeeded more than momentarily and fragmentarily.

Today, with the single exception of the American people, there is not a people in the world which can be truly said to have a free way of life.

WHY IS HUMAN FREEDOM, SO LONG AND EARNESTLY DESIRED BY ALL PEOPLES, SO DIFFICULT OF ATTAINMENT, AND OF SUCH A TRANSIENT QUALITY?

WHAT IS THE PECULIAR AND EXCLUSIVE CHARACTER AND SPIRIT AND PURPOSE OF THE AMERICAN PEOPLE, THAT THEY ALONE AMONG ALL THE PEOPLES OF THE EARTH SHOULD BE CAPABLE OF ACHIEVING FREEDOM AND SUSTAINING IT?

ARE THE AMERICAN PEOPLE DESTINED TO BE PERPETUALLY THE ONLY PERMANENTLY FREE PEOPLE ON EARTH?

The composite answer to all these questions is, of course, that there is no such thing as perpetual freedom.

No people on earth—not even Americans—can call themselves permanently free.

There has never been a day or so much as an hour or minute of American history when the freedom of the people, so bravely and sacrificially attained and so vigilantly sustained, has not been in jeopardy.

In very recent times, indeed, there has been such impairment of American freedom—under the pressures of war and depression—as to make uncertain its ultimate restoration.

THAT IS WHY the national observance of such patriotic anniversaries as that commemorating the declaration and attainment of American freedom is important.

It reminds us that the freedom we enjoy is not only a blessing but a very fragile thing, constantly menaced and continuously in jeopardy, and that it still remains beyond the grasp of most of the world's peoples, and that we ourselves retain it precariously.

The American people observe the Fourth of July with reverence for its patriotic and spiritual significance, with enthusiasm for the privilege and honored place it has given them in the world's affairs BUT MOST OF ALL WITH RENEWED DEVOTION AND DEDICATION TO THE ETERNAL TASK AND DUTY OF PRESERVING THE CONCEPTS OF HUMAN FREEDOM TO WHICH THE DAY GIVES REALITY.

O sorely may I rue the day
I fancied first the womankind,
For ever since I ne'er can have
One quiet thought or peace of mind.
They have plagued my heart
And pleased my eye
And teased and flattered me at will,
But, aye, for all their witchery
The pawky things
I love them still!

MY MEMBERSHIP IN the Young Old Timers is in great danger. Now several clients suggest as I do not recall chewing bubble gum in my boyhood I should be tossed out of the aforementioned organization. These subscribers say bubble gum was on the market over 30 years ago. Well, I don't remember it. Maybe I just wasn't a bubble gum fan. I bought all my gum from the slot machines on the elevated railway and subway stations. It was good gum. Besides at times when you put in a cent you would get three or four pieces of gum. One time on the 46th st. elevated station in Brooklyn I hit the jackpot. I put in one cent and got 27 pieces of gum.

ASKING: Queries from Clients. Q—How fast can a jackrabbit run? A—A lively jackrabbit can attain a speed of 40 miles an hour. The only dog that can catch a jackrabbit is a greyhound. But our pup, a Springer Spaniel, apparently doesn't know that and keeps on trying. Q—What city or town in the U. S. A. has the shortest name? A—Shortest I know of is T. B., Maryland. Q—Do you recall a vaudeville act billed as "Frank Fay and His Four Sweethearts?" A—I missed that one. Only time I saw Fay in vaudeville he was doing a single act.

I rinsed my hair with ale and though it is naturally coarse it is now as light and fine as that of a baby. Furthermore, it brings out the blonde in me to greater advantage. CAT LOVER: A Kansas City, Mo., lover of cats endowed a home for the felines. He requested the place always be well stocked with rats so the cats could have a good time chasing the rodents. A thoughtful man. If I ever become an opulent fellow I will endow a home for Springer Spaniels. I will order it well stocked with squirrels and jackrabbits for the pups to chase. A swimming pool will also be provided. Twenty or thirty Springer Spaniels swimming together together might be an interesting sight. I will name this home in honor of our pup. So if at some time in the future you see an artistic sign on a farm reading: "The Timothy V. Durling Home for Springer Spaniels" why just drop in and watch the Spaniels swim.

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Copyright, 1947, by King Features Syndicate

NEW YORK, July 3—The interlocking association of the Roerich mystical cult and the New Deal, through leading personalities, has never been fully revealed.

Westbrook Pegler

Wallace was familiar with this group and he appointed Louis L. Horch, its principal financial backer, to very influential jobs in the Departments of Agriculture and Commerce.

Old Henry Morgenthau, the father of Henry the Morgue, who was Roosevelt's Secretary of the Treasury, fell for a new ism called biosophy and associated with the Guru, or swami, of that outfit, one Frederick Kettner, whose publications were put out by the press of Nicholas Konstantin Roerich, at the Roerich lamasery and museum, also known as a "Master Institute," at 310 Riverside Drive.

Kettner is still in action. I telephoned his office for an appointment but was told that he was on tour and could not be reached.

This struck me as strange. Most showmen, lecturers and preachers who work the road are booked methodically and can be caught by phone, mail or telegram in a few hours. The young lady agreed that he could be compared to a ghost.

I HAVE BEEN TOLD that Sol Bloom, the New Deal Congressman whose district includes the Lamasery, actually had lived in the place for some years.

Mr. Bloom is one of the old-timers of Congress. He is now 77 and he has the happy and mature disposition of a fellow who never took himself too seriously and lived by the way as he traveled through life.

He was born in Pekin, Ill., and was taken to San Francisco by his parents when the country west of the Mississippi was still frontier.

Sol was a showman at the first Chicago World Fair in 1893, managing all concessions, including a pitch on the streets of Cairo where a buxom babe introduced to Western culture a squirm called the hootchy-kootchy discoursed to the thin wails of a snake-charmer's reed.

"She wriggles and she's not a worm—for a dime, 10 cents" was the wham-sock closing phrase of the cultural discourse of the traditional midway professor at such displays.

The professors themselves were almost as great an attraction as the hootch dancers, of whom Mr. Bloom now reveals there were perhaps as many as 15.

I TELEPHONED Mr. Bloom and asked him if it were true that he had lived up there in the temple with the lama himself, meaning old Roerich and the disciples.

"Yes, —I, —well, I, —that is, I mean that is my official residence," Sol said. "I used to live there when old Roerich was there with his wife and son. You are pretty near right about them according to information I have received.

"Horch is not a bad fellow," Sol said. "He just got interested in Roerich's painting and stuff. I thought the paintings were terrible myself, and every time I would look at one of them I would want to go and get a drink. I haven't been up there for years now but I did live there and that's my voting address.

"I heard Roerich was dead some time ago," Sol said.

THE PART that I have difficulty believing in Mr. Bloom's story is his insistence that he didn't know Wallace was in the circle, didn't know Wallace sent Roerich to Asia for the Department of Agriculture on a botanical mission and didn't even know that Wallace knew Horch.

After all, Sol is a Congressman and did rise, by seniority, to become chairman of the Committee on Foreign Affairs.

AFTER HORCH broke with Roerich over money matters, Horch said that, when he and Mrs. Horch were paying the bills for the "Guru," Mrs. Roerich told him and Mrs. Horch, one day in Vichy, that her old man had a mental power over others and that if anyone went against him he had power enough to kill him with his thoughts.

The Horches had apparently swallowed so much of Roerich's nonsense that it seems that they could have fallen for this business of the mental daggers and blue flames, too.

But Sol says Roerich never did any magic tricks around him.

"He never gave me any of that mystical business," says he. "I never could follow him, anyway. He gave weird lectures but I never went to them. If you would stay around that Roerich long enough, he would get you. I never let him look me in the eye. I never let a hypnotist look me in the eye and whenever he would try it on me I would run."

Hollywood

By Louella O. Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, July 3 — Valli, the Italian actress who will take everyone by storm when "The Paradine Case" is released, she is so beautiful and such a good actress, gets herself another acting plum. She has been given the much-discussed role of Olga in "Miracle of the Bells," and was loaned to Jesse Lasky by David Selznick.

Jane Greer

I knew well from past experience when Jesse Lasky was shouting to the high heavens that he was going to take an unknown and make a star, that he would settle for an experienced actress. It never works out, believe me. An unknown may be ever so beautiful, but without dramatic training, it's too much of a risk.

Valli will play opposite Fred MacMurray, who has the lead as the press agent, with Frank Sinatra as Father Schultz.

The book by Russell Janney was first suggested in this column as a natural for the movies. It starts July 14 with Irving Pichel at the directing helm.

I want to add that it was Dore Schary who suggested Valli, and in return he loaned Selznick Jane Greer—a break for the Greer girl.

HEARING that Virginia Bruce plays Gail Russell's mother in "Night has a Thousand Eyes" made me pause to think how fast time slips by. It was 17 years ago that Virginia first came to Hollywood and the first job she had was with Paramount.

What a lot has happened to Virginia in those years—so much of it tragic. Her first marriage was to the charming but tempestuous John Gilbert. While life with him was not easy, she loved him very much.

Unhappiness struck again when her second husband, J. Walter Rubin, the director, died after just a brief illness.

But Virginia has always kept her chin up and been a wonderful mother to her two children. Now she has found happiness again with Ali Apar.

WHEN MARIE WILSON eloped six years ago with Alan Nixon and begged me not to print it. I didn't think the marriage would last. She was so hysterical and unhappy over her broken romance with Nick Grinde, the director, Well, it's lasted for six long years and Marie and Alan are mighty happy.

This week they celebrated their anniversary, and at the same time will go into "Linda Be Good" for Matty Kemp. This is the first time they have played in the same picture since Alan wooed and won the pretty Marie.

I have often wondered why the Wilson girl hasn't had more luck on the screen as a comedienne. She's so attractive and really very funny as the dumb girl.

REMIND ME never again to listen to a producer who says he's going out into the world and bring back alive an unknown. No producer ever in his heart has that idea, but it always makes for good publicity, and I'm always goon enough to fall for the story.

Such stories are harmful to the industry, because they raise the hopes of people who never in the beginning had a chance.

Jesse Lasky never had any more intention of getting an unknown for the role of Olga than I have of playing it. Such false publicity hurts him, hurts the industry, and hurts the public, and, most of all, gives me a pain!

So, boys, next time you want to use this column for publicity for your pictures, think up something different than an unknown—I just won't fall again.

ON THE AIR FIELD in Copenhagen, where Grace Moore tragically lost her life when the plane crashed last winter, a valuable jeweled trinket with the Norwegian King Haakon VIII's initials was found.

The inspector of the air field, Arthur Dahl, went to Oslo with the trinket and the king identified it and said he had given it to Grace Moore when he was in America. This information comes from Torben Meyer, who says it will be sent to Grace's husband, Valentine Parerra, and that the news came to him in a letter from Sweden.

BEVERLY BAYNE looks just as young as Gloria Swanson does, and that's an accomplishment, believe you me. What those two girls do to keep their youth, I don't know, but they have solved the secret.

Beverly writes that she's going into "The Naked City," the Mark Hellinger picture being made in New York. She plays Mrs. Lawrence Stoneman.

I had a talk with Beverly when I was in New York last time. She tells me Richard Bushman, her son, and the son of Francis X. Bushman, has turned out to be a fine boy. She says she hasn't seen him as much as she would have liked this past year, because she's been in stock.

WHEN I TALKED with Garson Kanin, and asked him if he and his wife, Ruth Gordon had written a comedy for Claudette Colbert, he laughed.

"We had a marvelous idea for Miss Colbert," he said. "We haven't put it on paper yet, but we have it outlined. We called it 'Trouble With Women' but Paramount has just made a picture with that name so we must find a new title. However, I think we have a cute idea, and we hope to make it."

Well, with Garson at Universal-International, it shouldn't be too difficult to get Claudette, who makes many of her pictures for Bill Goetz.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD collected at random: Sonja Henie's latest young boy friend is Michael North. They were at the Somerset House and before that he had dinner many times with her at her house. The boys certainly fall for that gal.

Eddie Cantor is in the Cedars of Lebanon for a checkup and he's keeping the fifth floor mighty lively.

Mrs. Vincent Sherman, wife of the Warners director, welcomed a six-pound, six-ounce boy Sunday at St. John's Hospital.

John Loder and Magda Gabor sympathizing with each other over a dinner table at the Chanteclair. Both John and Magda made news last week when they separated from their mates—John from Hedy Lamarr, and Magda from Bill Rankin.

Gertrude Steinman celebrates 20 years as Louis Shurr's secretary on Saturday—and she hopes to celebrate that many more.

Well, I always said Louis had a way with the ladies.

I am told that Mae Marsh's paintings now on exhibition at the Hermosa Beach public library are attracting attention.

Hans Hobe, the man who first told the world that Hitler's real name was Schickelgruber, is writing the screen play of "The Children" for Milton Sperling. Hobe served as a major in the American Army.

Ted and Ruth Saucier are at the Beverly Hills Hotel for a five week stay. While here he will confer with Joe Pasternak about his story called "Happiness."

Helen Gilbert

John Hambleton has been made production co-ordinator to William Dozier — don't ask me his duties, 'cause I don't know.

Helen Gilbert goes all the way to Mexico to test for a picture in which MGM in interested.

After Irene Dunne finishes "I Remember Mama," she and Dr. Frank Griffin will vacation in South America. What a reception Irene will receive. She is very popular there.

Helen Pollock, daughter of the late Channing Pollock, is endowing Northeastern University with her father's library. This is the school where boys work their way through, and not only is she presenting Channing's library, but she's accepting additional books from her friends.

Boston After Dark

HARVARD MEN CERTAINLY dominate the hotel scene in Boston . . . James Henderson and Robert Moore, operators of the Copley Plaza, the Myles Standish and the Sheraton Hotels, and A. M. Sonnabend, the top brass of the Somerset and Puritan, are classmates . . . (Sonnabend was national squash racquets champion while at Cambridge).

A FEW CLASSES ahead of Henderson, Moore and Sonnabend was the class of '18 which included Ed Wyner, boss of the Boston Ritz-Carlton . . . Wyner is one of the few excellent golf players to claim a Harvard background . . . In the game of golf, incidentally, Harvard has been only sparsely represented at any time . . . Until young Charlie Mulcahy of Brookline developed into one of this state's ranking amateurs, Harvard has won few mentions in the golf columns—here or any place.

MULCAHY, 26-year-old former Navy flier and son of a Boston lawyer who plays a crack game himself, was captain of the Harvard golf team.

NANTUCKET "on-islanders" are worried for the first time about an influx of wealthy summer residents who have acquired famous old Nantucket houses which have passed down through generations of folk, while summer visitors only, have come to be accepted almost as if they were not "off-islanders" . . . Watch for further zoning restrictions to be placed when the selectmen meet this Fall or Winter to prevent Nantucket from becoming a lively, brash summer resort with ferris wheels, merry-go-rounds, roller-coasters and similar attractions.

SPEAKING OF RESTRICTIONS (but of a very different and un-American sort), Miami Beach has passed a statute whereby it is a crime from this point on to advertise that a hotel or rooming place is "restricted" . . . Such advertisements as "special clientele," "restricted clientele," or the mere word "restricted" is now banned along the Beach . . . The law specifies that even so much as the display of a desk sign on the premises of a hotel is to be regarded as a violation . . . This type of restriction has been used to discriminate between racial classes of population . . . Miami Beach is the first and only Florida community to have an "anti-restriction law" at present . . . But far-minded Floridians will aid a statewide drive to emulate Miami Beach's example.

A NOVELTY song, "We Wish We Had It But We Ain't," is a new Greater Boston contribution to Tin Pan Alley . . . Gladys (Mrs. Albert) and Albert Patch, of Winthrop and George Dixon (not our neighbor columnist) are the writers . . . Southern Music has bought the number, and professional copies are being placed with Boston orchestras. . . . "We Wish We Had It But We Ain't" is the first published son of the Patches . . . Collaborator Dixon, however, has an ASCAP credit through his part in the creation of the hit, "Dear Old Pal Of Mine" . . . Dick Kent, an ASCAP writer, made the arrangement.

FIRST TO FEEL the recent boom, the taxi business has been in the forefront of industries slackening pace considerably . . . Drivers who saved their money when things were humming are working only three or four days a week this summer . . . (They say that vacations can be more profitable) . . . But business cannot be considered really bad . . . The price of a Boston "medallion" (the license to operate a taxi) remains high . . . A "medallion" and a good cab still represents a $5000 investment . . . And a "hustling" cab-jockey still can manage to make $100 a week if he owns his own hack and works a long (very long) day . . . Many veterans consider ownership of a cab an almost ideal "small business" venture . . . An alert former GI defied this department to name another business which can demonstrate the earning capacity of the combination of one good cab and one good man owning and driving it—in Boston.

THE CAB JOCKEYS are thinking hard these days on the subject of improving traffic conditions in Boston.

Broadway

NEW YORK, July 3—Carole Landis, the Body Beautiful, and Horace Schmidlapp, the Husband Dutiful, dropped in at the Coq Rouge, fresh from their West Coast sojourn, and observers agreed that Don Loper, designer of the figure-hugging Landis dinner frock, had only one simple notion in mind: He wanted all persons gazing on the fair Mrs. S. to feel, instantly, that they Knew Where the Body Was Buried . . . There was no doubt that the headline act anywhere in town was the doubleheader, Taft and Hartley, but the cynical cafe set spent hours giggling over the quotes in interviews with Countess di Frasso and Virginia Hill, cabled from France . . . The beautiful doll on Grandpa Phil Regan's arm was his Grandma wife, who just arrived from California . . . Residents of the block on which Madge Tucker lived—she's the actress who was attacked and brutally beaten by an intruder posing as a window cleaner a week ago—have banded together to "do something" about it. They'll ask for more police protection, etc., in the neighborhood.

Carole Landis

Tallulah Bankhead played host to members of the cast of "The Medium" at the Stork Club after the performance. The great actress sobbed with emotion as the final curtain went down and afterwards told Marie Powers (who plays Mme. Flora, the spiritualist): "Only three performances have moved me this way—Jeanne Eagle's in 'Rain,' John Barrymore's in 'Hamlet' and yours."

WASHINGTON, July 3 — I see where Joseph Padway says that he and other attorneys for the American Federation of Labor will advise union leaders to violate the Taft-Hartley Labor Act.

Are lawyers supposed to advise clients to break the law?

WELL, we got new neighbors —and I hope they will not turn out to be cutups who play the radio after midnight and throw their old bottles out the window. Secretary of State and Mrs. Marshall have moved into 2400 16th st. N. W. a few doors below us.

It is nice to know that the General and Mrs. M. finally found an apartment because they are somewhat hard to find in Washington these days. They managed to wangle the suite of Mrs. Price Whitaker while she is away in Paris. . . .

I wonder what will happen if Mrs. Whitaker decides to come home and the Marshalls refuse to move? It would be very embarrassing if the Secretary of State was having a diplomatic dinner and the sheriff's men came in with an ejection order.

I have instructed the little woman not to get too friendly with our new neighbors until we see whether they are the "right" kind of people. No use taking unnecessary chances on having our social status impaired.

And I have told the little woman to follow State Department releases closely to make sure the secretary does not advocate restoration of sugar rationing. In such an event, the little woman is under strict orders not to lend Mrs. Marshall a single cup of sugar.

CIO PICKETS showed up at the wedding of Sen. Taft's son. The pickets did not contend the young man or his bride had been unfair to the CIO by marrying each other instead of Philip Murray; it was sort of secondary picketing, aimed at the bridegroom's old man.

The picketing of a wedding seems to be going a little far afield.

RESIDENTS of the huge Westchester Apartment House here, which was popularly supposed to have been owned by Queen Wilhelmina of Holland, have been battling a petition of the new owners for a 17½ per cent increase in rents.

The tenants, however, seem to be mostly up in arms because the new owners, an investment corporation, have been uprooting a lot of Her Majesty's landscape. They have been pulling up flower beds, digging up hedges and playing havoc with some of the trees.

The tenants contend the holding company has no aesthetic soul.

In addition to Senators Buck, Ferguson, Morse, Revercomb and Wiley, the place holds former Secretary of Agriculture Wickard, Rear Adm. Clark H. Woodward, a good dozen judges of higher courts, and Chief of Navy Personnel Adm. Louis E. Denfield. So you can see it is no tenement.

Yelps against the floral desecration were particularly loud at one hearing before Rent Control Administrator Robert F. Cogswell. Among the most vehement was an imposing lady with a large flower-topped hat.

"Do you wish to present any evidence about the destruction of the landscaping?" Administrator Cogswell asked the lady.

"I certainly do," she replied. "They dug up these!"

With that she grabbed the flowers from her hat and threw them on the table.

Scented Toilet Water Halo

SYMBOL of the ethereal grace and perfection of loveliness is a celebrated toilet water that's not only perfect for the young bride . . . but for the elegante who takes pride in the haunting memory she leaves behind. A poignant, feminine toilet water . . . it becomes the beautiful who exploit beauty for all it is worth.

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE
Beauty and Fashion Editor

"ALL BRIDES are beautiful" is a maxim which invariably comes true. For every bride on that very special day seems to achieve the attributes of ethereal grace and perfection.

Probably it is because on that one day she takes special care of everything possible to enhance her natural beauty and create an illusion of loveliness. Weeks of planning on her bridal costume, her trousseau, herself, culminate into a personality riding the crest of joy and happiness. Not one single thing is forgotten . . . not one little item is overlooked if it can contribute to her beauteous appearance when she walks down the aisle for the sacred and anticipated uttering of "I do."

Pretty words "I do" . . . spoken from the heart. And pretty is the girl who usually says them. Along with the traditional steps before slipping into white satin is the delightful plus of a celebrated toilet water . . . seemingly created to enhance a bride on her wedding day. Symbol of the young bride's radiant happiness and assurance of poetic enchantment for the user this lingering fragrance . . . neither heavy nor light . . . is both sensitive and sensuous.

MAGNETIC AURA

Its creator evidently had in mind encircling the young beauty with a magnetic aura as memorable as the occasion for which it was intended. A delicately balanced fragrance . . . evidence of the skill of our great perfumers . . . this particular toilet water is many-mooded. For to my sensory organ it should be appealing not only to the bride and debutante . . . but also the discriminating elegante who likes to wear a poignant, feminine toilet water with or without accents of precious perfume.

We're sitting in an aura of it as we sing its praises . . . and it is good! When the weather is hot and sticky . . . as it has been these past few days . . . we enjoy the scented halo this toilet water induces. It helps keep us fresh in the midst of devitalizing warmth. It reduces the wilting equation to a minimum.

Further good news this season for those who delight in spraying toilet water on lingerie and furs as well as themselves is the return of atomizers. And the larger size of this prestige wonder-water is packaged with a pretty and useful gold-washed atomizer. Bottled in gleaming crystal with a gold-plated cap . . . to which the atomizer is easily attached . . . the toilet water sprays from its container with the greatest of ease . . . and comfort for the recipient.

For the name of this charming toilet water, fit for a bride AND you, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, daily except the week-end, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

FORGET-ME-NOTS make it easy to remember the gal in this gown . . . dedicated to the room-at-the-top-theme for summer. A pale blue rayon chiffon evening dress by Sam Friedlander . . . it has a wide stole gathered to one side of the bodice and again at the hipline for an on-or-off manipulation depending on the wearer's mood. The bodice has thin straps over the shoulders . . . and is circled with pink forget-me-nots to accent the shirring. R. M.

Tantalizing Raised Muffins Well Worth Extra Work

By MARTHA LEE
Household Editor

THERE IS NOTHING QUITE so tantalizing as the aroma of yeast breads baking, is there? And almost no other food receives such enthusiastic acceptance by everyone. New methods of preparation now make these appetite teasers much less work to prepare, as you'll agree when you note this recipe for raised muffins below.

Serve quick and yeast breads often—they are the perfect complement for light summer casserole and salad meals, and well worth the little extra time their preparation requires.

MENU

Tomato Juice
Chicken-Noodle Casserole
Buttered Peas and Corn
Spring Salad
Raised Muffins
Butter or Margarine
Ice Cream Tea or Coffee

RAISED MUFFINS

½ cup boiling water
1½ tsp. salt ⅓ cup sugar
3 tbsp. shortening
½ cup evaporated milk
1 cake compressed yeast
¼ cup lukewarm water
2 eggs, beaten
3½ cups sifted flour

Pour boiling water over salt, sugar and shortening in mixing bowl. Add evaporated milk. Soften yeast in lukewarm water; add to first mixture. Add beaten eggs and about ½ of the flour. Beat to blend well. Add remainder of flour and beat until smooth. Set dough aside to rise in a warm place until doubled in bulk (about 1½ hours). Beat again. Fill greased muffin pans about 2-3 full. Let dough rise in pans until again doubled, about 1 hour. Brush tops of muffins lightly with undiluted evaporated milk, then bake in a moderate oven (375 deg. F.) about 25 minutes. Makes 1½ dozen muffins.

CHICKEN-NOODLE CASSEROLE

3 qts. boiling water
1 tbsp. salt
4 ounces medium noodles
3 tbsp. butter or margarine
3 tbsp. flour ½ tsp. salt
¼ tsp. paprika
1 cup chicken stock
1 cup milk
1 tbsp. lemon juice
¼ cup olives, chopped
2 cups cubed cooked chicken

Add 1 tablespoon salt to actively boiling water. Gradually add noodles and boil until tender (about 6 minutes). Drain and rinse. While noodles are cooking, melt butter or margarine in top of double boiler. Add flour, salt and paprika. Mix to a smooth paste. Gradually add chicken stock and milk, stirring constantly. Cook until slightly thick. Add lemon juice and olives. Combine noodles and chicken in 1½ quart casserole. Pour sauce over. Cover and bake in moderate oven (350 deg. F.) 45 minutes. Serve hot. Makes 5 servings.

SPRING SALAD

1 head lettuce or other salad green
1 cup shredded raw carrot
1 bunch green onions
¼ tbsp. minced parsley

Separate head of lettuce; wash, drain, break into small pieces. Wash onions. Scrape or peel carrots and shred. Chill vegetables. Arrange lettuce in salad bowl which has been rubbed with a clove of garlic. Sprinkle over this the finely minced parsley, then the shredded carrot, and lastly, the finely sliced green onions. Add salad dressing and toss thoroughly before serving. Makes 4 servings.

This Invitation Sufficient

DEAR Mrs. Beeckman: Will you please settle a problem which has arisen in my family? For the past year my brother has been "going steady" with a girl from another city. Neither my family nor myself have had the opportunity of meeting the girl or her family.

In the near future this girl's sister is to be married, and her family sent us a formal invitation to the wedding. Now our question is: Is this formal invitation respectful enough for us to accept, or since we haven't ever met this family, should they have sent us a personal letter also? We want very much to do the right thing. S. C.

This girl's family made a gracious bow to your family by sending them an invitation to the wedding . . . the formal invitation was quite sufficient to show their courtesy, and a personal letter was not necessary. Since the girl's family kindly took your family "on faith," your family should return this kindly spirit, and should, if convenient, accept this gracious invitation.

The Correct Thing

By ELINOR AMES

THE BRIDE—In the wedding procession, the bride and her father are last! Traditionally she walks on his right. (Occasionally an individual clergyman tells the bride to walk on the left. This is his personal preference as there is no religious or other reason for it.)

Sitting Posture Important

By EILEEN CALLAHAN

A BABY'S DIMPLED knees are a fetching sight, as any mother will tell you, but girls of an age to wear fashionable dresses aren't babies and their knees look better covered up. In fact, the effect of the most beautiful dress in the world is ruined when sloppy sitting posture causes it to ride up above the knees.

Skirts are cut to flatter the figure as it stands, walks or sits gracefully erect. But they are not guaranteed to fall in a lovely line over the legs carelessly outthrust, or crossed as you slouch in a chair. Even the new longer skirts are not long enough to cover the glaring deficiencies of awkward sitting posture.

Some women think that the mere buying of a style-wise dress guarantees them a fashionable appearance. It merely gives them a good start. It is up to the woman herself to make the most of her clothes. The grace with which she wears her beautiful clothes is the final fashion test for both her and her costume.

Home Garden Forum

By FOSTER H. WEISS
Head of the Vegetable Gardening Dept., Norfolk County Agricultural School

Q—How often should it be necessary to cultivate the garden?

A—As the main objective in cultivating is to control weeds, you can time the job according to the way weeds develop. On heavy soils it may be necessary to cultivate after a rain to break the crust. Shallow, frequent working of the soil is always good.

Q—Is it safe to dust broccoli after the head starts to form?

A—The only safe dust to use on this crop is rotenone. This material is not poisonous to humans.

Q—Is it safe to use bean poles for more than one year?

A—If your beans were free of rust last year, it should be safe. New poles are better, but hard to get. A good plan is to give the poles a good drenching with bordeaux mixture before you set them.

Q—When should the leaves of daffodils be cut off?

A—As long as the leaf is green, it is making food and storing it in the bulb for next season's growth. After they turn yellow, they can be cut back to make the beds look neat.

CLINTON P. ANDERSON
Secretary of Agriculture Says:

American Women— Your Used Fats Are Still Needed!

America's homemakers have saved and tuned in over 600 million pounds of used cooking fats since 1942. This is an average of nearly 20 pounds for each family in the United States. It is a record of which every woman can be proud.

However, it is still necessary to conserve every pound of fat, since the over-all fat supply situation is little better now than it was last year when we were desperately short, particularly of industrial fats.

Manufacture of many of the things we all use and wear in our daily lives requires industrial fats or the products of industrial fats. Used cooking fats turned in by American women have been and continue to represent an important part of our total industrial fats supply. Every pound of salvaged fat helps meet the need.

A's Surge Gives Connie Big Lift; Never Happier

Connie Mack

By HERB FINNEGAN

THERE WAS BOUNCE in his step, sparkle in his eye and a "Top O' the Morning" to all as 84-year-old Cornelius McGillicuddy skipped to Fenway Park today to see his A's try to go two-up in their four-game series with the Red Sox.

"Gracious," he exclaimed, "but life is wonderful. All those people (20,000) turning out at Meriden, Ct., and I hadn't played there since 1884. My, that's 63 years ago. Think of people remembering me all that time. And to have big Edward Walsh and Jack Barry there, too. It's nice to have friends."

Baseball's patriarch, who has been managing the A's since the inception of the American League in 1901, was looking forward to a glorious Fourth.

"It'll be one of the happiest in memory," he anticipated. "I have my health, and I have a spirited ball club. It's not a great one, far from it. It can't compare to some of my pennant winners of the past but none ever fought harder than this one.

Gives Credit to Joost and Fain

"IT'S ALL BECAUSE of two over-the-winter additions—Eddie Joost and Ferris Fain. They've helped us tremendously. Our pitching has been splendid all the way and it should be better another year when youngsters like Joe Coleman and Bob Savage and Carl Scheib gain experience."

Scheib, 20-year-old sensation whose first two efforts this season were shutouts, pitched 7 2-3 innings against the Red Sox last night, a game Bob Savage of Manchester got credit for when the A's won in the ninth, 6-5.

"Scheib is from a small town named Gratz, about 50 miles from Harrisburg," said Mr. Mack. "His father brought him in to the park in his high school days. He spent his formative days in the Army, saw service in Germany. He's just recovering his stride now."

Savage, who won 3 and lost 15 for the A's last year, has a 6-3 record this year and is fast becoming a polished pitcher. This is the lad who was wounded in Europe and who still carries a piece of shrapnel in his back as a memento.

Joost was with the Reds from '39 to '42, substituted for Lonnie Frey in the '39 World Series and played smartly. He came to the Braves in the Eddie Miller deal, but never did play the ball he was capable of under Casey Stengel.

"Guess I talked too much," he said, frankly. "Well, I'm talking no more. That sentence at Rochester taught me a lesson. I want no more of the minors. I'm letting Mr. Mack do all the talking for this club."

Fain is a scrappy first sacker from Oakland who came up from Lefty O'Doul's San Francisco club. He played a lot of ball in the Army, and he came so highly recommended that Mr. Mack released George McQuinn the moment he signed Fain.

"They're all fine boys," said Mr. Mack, who sees the good side of everybody, even the late Rube Waddell and Lefty Grove. "They love to win. That's what I like about them most of all."

They do like to win, particularly in the ninth inning. They scored four runs in the ninth to beat the Sox in April, came back the next day to score five in the ninth and beat the Sox again.

Last night it was 6-all going into the ninth. Denny Galehouse had given way to Mel Parnell. Joost walked and McCosky beat out a bunt past Parnell, who promptly advanced them with a wild pitch. Earl Johnson took over.

Valo flied out and when Birdie Tebbetts twice broke up the squeeze by calling for pitchouts and finally tagged Joost out at home, it looked as if the Sox were safe. But Johnson walked the left-handed hitting Fain, and Sam Chapman, hitless all night, bounced a single off the wall to score McCosky. That was enough.

"Just think," mused the tall tactician, "just think that our last place club of '46 is only one-half game away from the '46 league champion Red Sox. My, aren't we doing well. We have not lost a game in Boston all year. Two more victories tomorrow like the one last night will make it the most glorious Fourth in years. Life is wonderful," he concluded as he instructed Phil Marchildon to whip Dave Ferriss today as he did in Philadelphia Sunday.

A's See Yanks Winning

Denny Galehouse didn't have it. The A's scored on him in the very first inning, the first time Denny let an opponent cross the plate in 17 innings. Suder homered off him in the two-run second, and when McCosky singled in the three-run sixth Parnell went to the mound . . . The A's made 11 hits, six runs off Galehouse in 5 2-3 innings . . . The game started out like a push-over for the Sox. Williams hit homer No. 14 with Pesky aboard in the first inning, and when Doerr immediately followed with another homer, it looked like curtains for Scheib. But the young giant staggered along until Moses tripled in the eighth. Then Savage stepped in, retired Pesky, got Williams, Doerr and DiMaggio in order in the ninth and got himself another victory much easier than he ever earned one in '46.

Tebbetts belted one of Scheib's pitches over the left field wall in the sixth, his first homer of the season. That equalled his 1946 and 1942 homer output with Detroit. In Philadelphia earlier in the season, he missed a homer by inches. He'll hit more over that left field wall at Fenway because he never stops trying. And where will you find a smarter catcher? As the A's said: "You got all the better of the Wagner-Tebbetts trade, you got a fine young outfielder in Mele, yet you're not going to win the pennant. The Yanks are."

Harris Tests Ailing Flipper

SOX ARE NOW 6½ games behind the Yankees, and where will they be when they come home from their Western trip after the All-Star game? They're not a good road club. Even last year, when they sprinted to the pennant, they won 43, lost 44 away from home. Unless they win at Fenway Park, they're in the soup . . . Mickey Harris was to test his ailing flipper today, so it may be known whether he'll be of any help to the '47 Sox or not . . . Suder was batting .201 when the Sox played in Philadelphia Sunday. He proceeded to get seven hits in a row, including the homer that beat Ferriss and a homer off Galehouse last night . . . Eddie Joost wears glasses in the field, like Bob Dillinger of the Browns . . . Sox are losing but their attendance is surpassing that of last year. They've played to 624,175 fans in 26 home dates this year, an average of 24,000 the game . . . Sox have now lost four in a row, equalling their longest losing streak of the season. In '46, however, they lost six in a row. That was before Hughson beat Embree in the pennant-clinching game in Cleveland on Williams' inside-the-park homer . . . This was the fourth time in a row the A's beat the Sox by one run.

B's First Place Hopes Fade

By MIKE GILLOOLY

PHILADELPHIA, July 3—First place for the Fourth of July had faded embarrassingly from the grip of the Braves in a night-marish ninth as Warren Harding Spahn (11-2) picked up the collapsing pitching chores against the Phillies (Tom Hughes, 1-7) here today in the resumption of the four-game series.

And unless "The Profile" can reverse his field from his most recent starts, the National League pent-house will be merely a stretch of the imagination for the Southworths.

Merry chatter during the Braves' ascension to the roof ignored the sophomore southpaw who, in spite of his record, found his best pitches freely sampled in his last thre trips to the mound. On the Western swing he survived in Pittsburgh and St. Louis but returning home he survived only six innings (last Sunday) against these same Phils.

Spahn, however, insists that there's nothing that a lengthy spell of warm weather couldn't cure. The cool spring and then the sudden shift in the weather distressed Spahn and made him a tiring twirler, just when the Braves needed a "stopper" most.

Possibly Spahn has the correct answer to the ailments which have been bothering the Hub hurlers—with Charlie "Red" Barrett now added to the growing list of lifted chuckers on a mound staff that figured to keep the club perched on the top on this Eastern junket.

Spahn figures he'll have at least 13 more starts and that he should be able to break into the 20-game winning group. "And you may get a lot more work than that!" cracked Ed Wright whose latest injury, an ice picked finger, will keep him off the firing line for a while.

Spahn is a firm believer in keeping his legs in condition in order to keep his pitching arm in shape. He's one of the circus of pitchers who amuse bleacher fans by chasing fungoes from deep center to deep right throughout the batting practice.

The Braves had no excuse for the loss (6-5) to the Phils. They showed the home towners how to boot away games . . . Mike McCormick played ring-around-the-rosy under a Del Ennis smash that went for a triple. Mike failed to catch the posie . . . Phil Masi lost an Andy Karl knuckler for a passed ball that allowed Skeeter Newsome to score from second with the winning run.

The Braves had tied it up in their half of the ninth and there was plenty of wasted effort that had the press coop aghast at its lack of productiveness . . . Four hits, a base on balls, a passed ball (that allowed the run) and an error chipped in by Jim Tabor on one of his patented Fenway Park heaves to first . . . But Tabor's hustling, as evidenced when he took the return from the outfield at the plate to cut down pinch-runner Nanny Fernandez, saved the Phils.

Torgy pitched in with his 12th of the season, a smash that rode out of the ball park with Rowell on base . . . Karl took the loss that tighter short-stopping might have prevented.

Indians Sign Second Base Negro Star

CLEVELAND, July 3 (AP)—The Cleveland Indians became the first American League club to sign a Negro baseball player with purchase of Larry Doby, star second baseman of the Newark Eagles Negro National League team.

Tribe officials said Doby, a 22-year-old Navy veteran who leads the Negro National League in home runs and doubles, had been purchased for duty with the Indians starting Saturday. Terms of the purchase were not disclosed.

Doby, who can play any position in the infield and outfield, will be used where Boudreau thinks the Indians are weakest, Cleveland officials said.

Doby has a season's batting average of .458 and leads the Negro circuit in home runs with 13 and in doubles with 16.

Jackie Robinson, capable first baseman of the Brooklyn Dodgers, was the first Negro signed to play in "organized" baseball in modern times.

Asserting "the reports we have received on his ability are outstanding," Tribe Manager Lou Boudreau said, "I hope Doby can succeed with us as he can with other teams."

A native of Camden, S. C., the 185-pound Negro infielder starred for Paterson, N. J., East Side high school's city baseball champions in 1941 and 1942 before entering Long Island University. He signed with the Eagles in the spring of 1943, but entered the Navy in July of that year.

Rickey Praises Veeck In Signing of Doby

Brooklyn, July 3 (AP)—Branch Rickey, president of the Brooklyn Dodgers, declared today he was not surprised at the signing of Negro Larry Doby by Cleveland and added that he considered Bill Veeck a progressive baseball man.

Rickey broke modern baseball precedent when he signed Jackie Robinson last year, and brought him up to the Dodgers from Montreal this spring. Robinson, regular first baseman of the Dodgers, is the first Negro in the big leagues.

Robinson at present is hitting .317, leads the National League in stolen bases with 13, is second in runs scored with 58 and is second in total hits with 83.

Amazing Dodgers Back on Top

Leave it to Brooklyn to do the incredible. And incredible is just about the word for it. The Dodgers today are on top of the National League. Yet, by all the laws of nature and baseball they should be in the second division. For on paper they are no more than that, according to the Associated Press.

Look at the line-up. It is far from an impressive one. Arky Vaughan, a 35-year-old infielder is in the outfield where he has played only five games in his entire career. And after being on the retired list for three years.

Jackie Robinson, a natural second baseman, is at first base and Johnny Jorgensen, an 11th hour acquisition at third. And both are freshmen. Gil Hodges, with less than a handful of major league games under his belt does most of the catching. Even their leading hitter, Carl Furillo, was not considered good enough to play regularly until a couple of weeks ago.

Yet this club with Burt Shotton, a fill-in for the exiled Leo Durocher at the helm, with only two .300 hitters, without the services of Pete Reiser, their best player, and with only one dependable pitcher, Ralph Branca, is leading the league by one game.

Then what is the reason for their high status? Even the experts are stumped. Perhaps it is because of their indomitable spirit, their all-out hustle and fight, their ability to capitalize on breaks, plus, of course, the existence of three fine key players in Ed Sanky, Pee Wee Reese, and Dixie Walker on the squad.

Neither is hitting .300, but Stanky is the brains of the outfit and the base getter; Reese has developed into a home run threat and he always was a wonder at shortstop; and Walker has not lost his knack of getting hits when most needed.

Another big reason for their current hold on the top rung stems from their ability to beat the Giants, especially on their home soil. They show the best record of any club against the Giants, six wins and four defeats. And they've yet to lose to the Giants at Ebbets' Field, where they dropped only two to their interborough rivals in 1945 and only one last year.

The Brooks borrowed a page from the Giants last night, falling on three Giants pitchers for nine runs in the fourth inning and went on to a handy 11-3 victory.

Scoring eight runs in a wild fifth inning, Cincinnati defeated the Pirates in Pittsburgh 8-6

The Yankees opened up a six and a half game lead in the American League by drubbing Washington 8-1 at the Yankee Stadium.

Throttling a late rally, Hal Newhouser, Detroit's great southpaw, gained his ninth win against eight losses as he pitched the Detroit Tigers to a 6-5 win over the Indians in Cleveland.

All games were played at night, with the Cardinals and Cubs idle.

The 111 young golfers who competed yesterday at the South Shore Country Club, Hingham, in the second of four New England qualifying rounds of the Hearst National Junior Golf Championships is candid proof of the high interest in the 1947 Hearst championships.

Another great feature of the tournament is the fact that the majority of the better golfers at the South Shore round were caddies. Among the more important golfing circles it is acknowledged that the "caddie" is one of the mainstays of the links.

The medalist at South Shore was 16-year-old Ken Campbell, the No. 2 man on the North Quincy high golf team. Kenny, playing the best competitive round of his life, shot a brstling 74 over the difficult course. He teed off on the back nine and carded a 34. When he moved over to the front nine his golfing improved as he shot a par 35. His total of 74 was five strokes below the second boy.

The eight South Shore qualifiers will play in the N. E. title round at Woodland July 28, 29, 30.

The next two qualifying rounds will be held at Merrimack Valley, Lawrence, July 7 and at Wachusett C. C., West Boylston, July 11.

Four golfers were deadlocked for second position with 79's. Paul Kendrick (39-40), Joe Carson (40-39) from Furnace Brook, Wally Hewins (38-41) and Johnnie McHugo (35-44) from Boston Technical High.

Notable among those who finished with 80 was 18-year-old Charlie Adams, the Wollaston caddie champ. Charlie was coached on the course by his older brother Ted, who was formerly the State amateur titlist. Dick Crosby, Albemarle, also carded 80.

There was a heated row for the eighth qualifying position. Five boys carded 81's. A playoff round was held with Hugh Mullin, Brookline High, the winner.

The other boys in the play-off were Paul Kelly of Albemarle, James McDonald of Jamaica Plain, Ted Newcombe of Quincy and Bobby Mix of Fresh Pond.

Martha's Vineyard Best For Hooking Stripers

By "TAP" GOODENOUGH

Hoping that the sulking striped bass will furnish the fireworks during the three-day Fourth of July week-end, hordes of anglers will head for their favorite salt water rendezvous tonight. According to word from Nat "Schedule" Sperber, one of the best bets at present is the Martha's Vineyard area, where the bass have been hitting hard in Menemsha Creek and at Anthias Bridge, practicing, no doubt, for the Derby, Sept. 15-Oct. 15.

Lucky fishermen at the Vineyard, recently, included George Packard, of Melrose, who took a 10 and 12-pounder, using the old reliable eel tail jig; youthful Merrill Poole, who caught nine stripers, each averaging 14 pounds, with a popping plug. These two rod-and-reel wielders fished at Menemsha. At the bridge, Mass. State Trooper Howard Bardsley tied into a 14-pounder, baiting with worms . . . Speaking of the Derby, the grand prize, a $4200 steelcraft cruiser, is now on display at the South Station.

Stripers are very much in evidence in the waters around Buzzards Bay, but they aren't striking with enthusiasm—or often. However, hard-working sportsmen are connecting with fair catches, with everyone anxious to see a repetition of last year's July 4th "bass blitz" . . . Dark Montreal, Sunday Advertiser rod and gun editor, took three nice specimens, fishing out of Plymouth, early yesterday morning, and a few other scattered catches have been reported in that vicinity . . . "Ace" Loud, president of the Hingham Sportsmen's Club, boated two bass in Hingham harbor this week.

On the fresh water fronts, trout streams in the Bay State, New Hampshire, Vermont and Maine are starting to produce the way they usually do late in May. Lake and pond fishing continues to hold up well in many spots . . . In Maine, good sport is expected throughout the summer at East Carry, Pierce, Penobscot, Cold Stream, and Turner ponds; and in the Belgrades, 'Rangeleys, Moosehead, Fish River Chain, and Sebago lakes. The Bangor salmon pool is yielding a few more Atlantic salmon, and the Narraguagus river is pleasing anglers.

CLUB CHATTER: Sponsored by the Norfolk County League of Sportsmen's Clubs, a big field day will be held on the grounds of the Stoughton Fish and Game Club, Aug. 24. Russell Robinson, president of the league plans to conduct a dog show, coon hunt, lucky target event, turkey shoot, and other activities for hunters and fishermen, as well as women and children. The affair is open to all

Kelly Breezes in 2d Henley Win

HENLEY-ON-THAMES, July 3 (AP)—America's John B. Kelly, Jr., breezed through his second stop today on the way to the diamond sculls challenge cup in the Henley royal regatta. The 20-year-old Philadelphia sculler spotted Britain's Arthur Holloway 10 years' experience and nine pounds before out-rowing him in 9 minutes 44 seconds. He finished at least five lengths up but judges politely confined themselves to "won easily."

Kelly's win was the third overseas triumph of the second day's card. Swiss and Dutch crews earlier had rowed down British opponents.

Holloway was no match for the younger man, who entered the semifinals by his victory. Wearing his now famous Kelly green cap, the University of Pennsylvania boy swung to the middle of the one-mile, 550-yard course and finished at a slow 20-stroke-a-minute rate.

Two of "Kell's" old Philadelphia rowing buddies—now GIs stationed in Europe—just reached the crowded course in time to cheer his victory.

"We planned on coming to Henley to see "Kell" row ever since we joined the Army last year," said PFC Josiah McCall as he shook Kelly's hand.

Tabor Academy of Marion, Mass., reached the quarter-finals in the Thames challenge cup with a victory over London's Imperial Boat Club "B" crew in the fast time of 7 minutes, 34 seconds.

The eight American schoolboys shot off at a sizzling 43-stroke-a-minute clip and then settled down to a consistent 33 which brought them to the finish line two lengths in front.

"I only wish that it was not against the rules to signal a slowdown," sighed Tabor Coach Roderick Beebe, who followed the race in the umpire's launch. "I don't want my boys to tire themselves out."

His fears seemed groundless, however, since few of the boys were even breathing hard when they finished.

Their time was the best yet recorded in nine heats for the trophy, which Tabor won three times before the war.

Twenty-one-year-old Bert Bushnell, Britain's top hope for the diamond, defeated a fellow Briton, J. B. Brown, by 15 lengths in 9 minutes, 13 seconds, and now is scheduled to meet Kelly tomorrow in the semi-finals.

In another Thames Cup heat, Kent School of Kent, Ct., scored a two-length victory over the Henley Rowing Club. Kent's time was 7 minutes, 43 seconds—nine seconds slower than the earlier mark set by Tabor, Kent's traditional rival.

The Kent boys were half a length up at the halfway mark and coasted home despite a final spurt by the British oarsmen.

3 Yanks Enter Windup 36 Holes in Britain

HOYLAKE, England, July 3 (AP)—Three Americans—amateur Frank Stranahan of Toledo and professionals Vic Ghezzi of Kansas City and John Bulla of Phoenix, Ariz.—won places today in the 40-man field which will shoot it out tomorrow for the British Open crown Sam Snead is not defending.

Stranahan, erratic from tee to flag, hammered together a 79 that brought his two-day total to 150, still good enough to lead the American scorers but it dropped him from third to a four-way tie for ninth.

Ghezzi rolled in with a 78 and a 153 aggregate which was three strokes below the line which cut the field from 100 to the 40 who will shoot tomorrow.

Bulla had a 72 for his second tip over the Hoylake layout and that meant 152.

Sgt. Charles (Chuck) Jennings of Medford, N. J., and the U. S. Airforces, was the only American casualty. He added a 79 to his first round 83 for 162—six strokes above the dividing line.

Most of the scores zoomed today but Fred Daly, Belfast pro, found no difficulty. Near the leaders after yesterday's 18 with a 73, he checked in with a steady 70 today that gave him a four-stroke margin over Sam King, former British Ryder Cup player, and Henry Cotton. The latter needed 78 strokes today.

All kinds of tough luck troubled Ghezzi. On the 11th his lie was so poor he shot lefthanded with a wedge from a trap. On the 13th he neede dtwo putts to get dow nfrom four fet away and threw the club to the ground.

A curling 50-foot putt stopped on the rim of the cup on the final hole.

Joe Louis Admires 15½-Pound Joe, Jr.

CHICAGO, July 3 (AP)—"He's sure big," said Joe Louis, Sr., as he held his new son, Joe, Jr., in his arms for the first time. Joe, Jr., five weeks old and weighing 15½ pounds, nestled closer to his 200-pound-plus father and put a pudgy thumb into his mouth.

Joe last night welcomed his wife and their two children to their southside home from their stay in Mexico City.

The champion's wife, Marva, their four-year-old daughter, Jacqueline, and Joe, Jr., accompanied by a nurse, arrived by plane from Mexico City.

Braves Field Sandlot Tryouts Will Be Directed by Barrett

Bill Barrett, who started on the Cambridge sandlot diamonds and wound up in the major leagues, will direct the Record-American-Sunday Advertiser sandlot baseball tryouts at Braves Field next Tuesday at 10 a. m.

Barrett first gained local fame as an All-Scholastic with Rindge Tech back in the late 20's. He was so impressive around New England that he was picked up by the Chicago White Sox. He is now a New England scout for the Red Sox.

Bill will work with Claude Davidson, New England League president, at Tepee tryouts. They will select the 8 best prospects who will be eligible to compete in the All-New England final at Fenway Park July 29.

Tryouts have already been staged at Lawrence, Worcester, Nashua, Providence and Lynn. Twelve boys have been selected from these locations. Other tryouts are carded for Fall River, Brockton, Pawtucket and Somerville.

The 26 players selected from the 10 N. E. trials will play under Joe Cronin, Red Sox manager, and Lou Boudreau, Cleveland pilot, in the Fenway final which will be played as a co-feature with a Red Sox-Cleveland game.

A board made up of Cronin, Boudreau, Barrett and Davidson will nominate the two best prospects from the Fenway championship game to be sent to the Polo Grounds, New York, for the National final August 13.

There is no entry fee for this tournament. Everything is free. All players must be over 15 and under 19.

JACK CONWAY, JR.

Giants Outbid 6 Clubs For Schoolboy Sensation

NEW YORK, July 3 (AP)—The New York Giants have outbid six other major league clubs for the services of Bobby Hansen, 17-year-old righthander of Harriman, N. Y., who pitched seven no-hitters for Central Valley High in the past two years.

FALL RIVER JULY 10

The seventh in the series of Hearst Sandlot baseball trials will be held at Fall River Stadium, Thursday, July 10 at 10 a. m.

Manager Joe Holden of the Fall River Indians o the New England League will direct the tryouts.

Baksi-Louis Title Go Set

NEW YORK, July 3 (INS)—The Twentieth Century Sporting Club announced today that Joe Baksi, Kulpmont, Pa., heavyweight, has agreed to meet Joe Louis in a 15-round title fight at Yankee Stadium, New York, on Sept. 19.

News that the match had been closed came by cable from Lou Burston, in Stockholm, where Baksi will meet Ollie Tandburg, Swedish heavyweight, on Sunday.

Burston, the 20th Century Sporting Club's representative in negotiations with foreign fighters, left two weeks ago to land the challenger for Louis' title and said in his cable today that Nate Wolfson, Baksi's manager, had formally signed for the bout.

The one stipulation in the agreement is that Baksi scores a victory over Tandburg in his final fight abroad Sunday.

Baksi will sail from Europe aboard the America on July 18.

The fight—assuming Baksi wins as expected Sunday — will be Louis' only defense this year, following two starts in 1946 after he was discharged from the Army.

He knocked out Billy Conn in eight rounds in June of last year and stiffened Tami Mauriello in one in September.

SOX--ATHLETICS PLAY BY PLAY

FENWAY PARK, July 3—In an effort to break the jinx that's pursuing the team, Joe Cronin shifted to young blood this afternoon with Fritz Dorish on the hill.

The Athletic menace takes on new form and force, however, in the appearance of the capable Phil Marchildon, a twirler for the A's.

Marchildon boasts a 7-4 record, while young Dorish has a 5-6 mark. A couple of those Dorish defeats were booted away by his mates. The Sox have lost four in a row which is hardly the pace of champions.

Cronin's sudden switch from Dave Ferriss is hard to figure. Big Dave generally is effective against the A's while Dorish has dropped three games to the Mackmen. Dom DiMaggio was back in centerfield and Eddie Pellagrini is on third.

Birdie Tebbetts, peppery catcher of the Red Sox, was injured in the second inning and forced to leave the game.

With Fain on second and one out Sam Chapman came to bat. The second strike was a foul tip that struck Tebbets in the groin and felled him. Trainer Green worked over Tebbetts, then ordered him out of the game. Birdie made his way slowly to the Sox bench.

Roy Partee donned the catching togs.

Ted Williams hit his 15th homer, into the Sox bullpen, in the last of the eighth.

FIRST INNING

ATHLETICS — Joost walked. McCosky hit into a double play, Pesky to Doerr to Jones. Valo flied to DiMaggio. NO RUNS.

RED SOX—Moses doubled. Suder threw out Pesky. Williams walked. Moses scored and Williams went to second on a passed ball. Williams was safe at third when Majeski dropped Joost's throw. Doerr reaching first. DiMaggio forced Doerr, Marchildon to Joost, Williams scoring. DiMaggio stole second. Jones singled, scoring DiMaggio. Jones was out stealing, Rosar to Suder. THREE RUNS.

SECOND INNING

ATHLETICS — Fain doubled. Tebbetts was hurt by a foul tip and was replaced by Partee. Chapman poped to Pesky. Doerr threw out Rosar, Fain taking third. Suder singled, Fain scoring. Majeski singled, Partee threw out Marchildon. ONE RUN.

RED SOX—Pellagrini walked. Partee hit into a double play, Joost to Suder to Fain. Dorish fanned. NO RUNS.

THIRD INNING

ATHLETICS—Joost flied to Williams. McCosky flied to DiMaggio. Valo went out the same way. NO RUNS.

RED SOX—Moses walked. Pesky singled. Williams forced Pesky, Suder to Joost. Doerr fouled to Rosar. DiMaggio flied to Valo. NO RUNS.

FOURTH INNING

ATHLETICS—Fain walked. Chapman singled. Rosar sacrificed, Pellagrini to Jones. Suder flied to DiMaggio, Fain scoring, Chapman going to third. Majeski doubled scoring Chapman. Marchildon reached first and Majeski took third on Pellagrini's fumble. Joost hit a home run, scoring behind Majeski and Marchildon. McCosky went out, Jones to Dorish. FIVE RUNS.

RED SOX—Jones went out, Marchildon to Fain. Pellagrini fanned. Partee walked. Russel batted for Dorish and forced Partee, Joost to Suder. NO RUNS.

FIFTH INNING

ATHLETICS — Zuber now pitching for the Red Sox. Valo taking third, Chapman flied to Williams, Valo scoring after the catch. Rosar singled. Suder walked Majeski forced Suder, Pesky to Doerr. ONE RUN.

RED SOX — Moses fanned. Pesky singled. Williams walked. Doerr popped to Majeski. DiMaggio flied to Chapman. NO RUNS.

SIXTH INNING

ATHLETICS—Marchildon flied to Williams. Joost singled. McCosky flied to DiMaggio. Valo singled, Joost going to third. Murphy replaced Zuber. Fain grounded out to Jones. NO RUNS.

RED SOX—Majeski threw out Jones. Pellagrini lined to McCoskey. Partee flied to McCosky. NO RUNS.

SEVENTH INNING

ATHLETICS—Pellagrini threw out Chapman. Rosar singled. Suder lined to Pesky and Rosar was doubled up, Pesky to Jones. NO RUNS.

RED SOX—Murphy popped to Majeski. Moses grounded out to Fain. Majeski threw out Pesky. NO RUNS.

EIGHTH INNING

ATHLETICS—Majeski grounded to Doerr. Official attendance 16,969. Marchildon lined to Pesky. Joost flied to DiMaggio. NO RUNS.

Bud Ward Banned For Spurning No.

CHICAGO, July 3 (AP)—Marvin Ward, Spokane, Wash., today was refused permission to play in the opening of the seventh annual Tam O'Shanter golf tournament because of his refusal to wear a number on his back identifying him.

Ward, former national amateur champion, had advanced to the first tee and was ready to shoot when advised of the committee's decision.

Ward won the Tam O'Shanter amateur division in 1942.

Phils Get 3 Off Braves in Fifth

By MIKE GILLOOLY

SHIBE PARK, Philadelphia, July 3—Driven out of the box by this same pesky crew of Quaker last Sunday, Warren Spahn (11-2) tried again here today, drawing Tot Hughes (1-7) as his rival, as the second-place Braves resumed the series against the Phils.

Spahn, like the rest of the Braves' pitching staff, has been having his troubles of late. In the last seven games, the Braves have employed 25 tossers on the mound while relinquishing first place to the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Johnny Hopp reported here in time to work out with the club but he was kept on the bench as Mike McCormick continued in center field. Hopp had fortunately been absent (because of a back ailment) from two whippings on this trip.
